

In this weekend's Gospel, the man born blind rejoiced when Jesus healed him. He rejoiced because now he had the fullness of vision. Jesus made it possible for him to see as God sees. But before this healing, the blind man actually learned a lot about seeing as God sees – through his blindness, he could “see” with his heart.

God doesn't see as humans see. God says so Himself to Samuel in our First Reading. God doesn't pick Jesse's oldest and strongest son to be King of Israel; He picks the runt of the litter, the one who looks least prepared for the job, but who is perfect for the job. Because God sees deeper, into the heart, He sees the fullness of potential, the unique beauty of each person's soul He has created. He doesn't get distracted by appearances, as we so often do.

Today's Gospel is not saying: Try to see Jesus in everyone. It's saying step back from that: instead, see people and the world with Jesus's eyes, through God's eyes.

Bishop Robert Barron's newest study program

THE SACRAMENTS

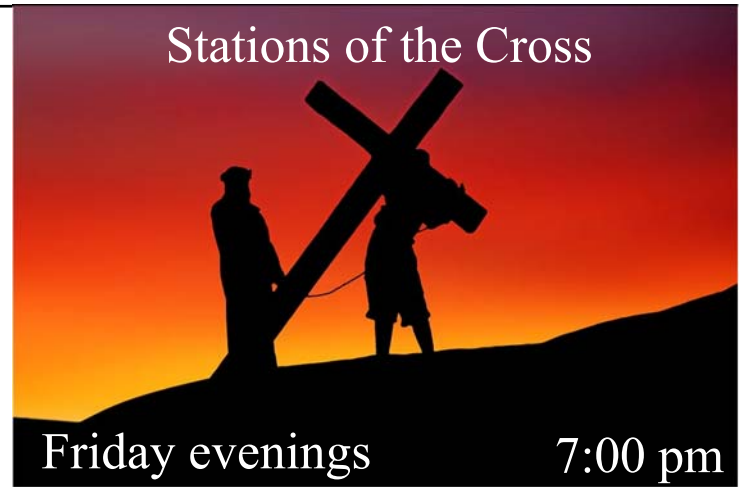

Just as Jesus was with His first followers, sharing His life with them, strengthening and healing them, so He is with us now in the sacraments He instituted. Come hear Bishop Barron tell us about this in these clear and exciting videos.

When? At 7 pm Wednesday evenings of Lent:
(Come when you can.)

Wednesday, March 22 Reconciliation
Wednesday, March 29 Anointing of the Sick
Wednesday, April 5 Matrimony and Holy Orders

Where? In the Education Building

Make the most of these remaining weeks of Lent!

Please CLIP AND SHARE the following schedule with someone whom you'd like to invite to join us during Holy Week and Easter. A personal invite does wonders at helping a person of faith return to Church. For some, that wait to return has spanned the entire pandemic; your personal invite may be all that's needed to get them to come back to Mass!
